Dear Recruiter:

My reputation as a director and mentor with a clean design, expertise in creative storytelling and motion graphics in the lead role for large concepts and projects, who has developed teams and brands, using unique technological solutions is documented in my résumé and echoed with two dozen recommendations. My background in creative services and negotiation has enabled many high profile brands to trust me in developing their image.

If you are looking for a creative with a passion for innovation and design, who will collaborate with stakeholders, stretch a brand with outstanding technical flexibility, has thrives in extremely fast-paced environments without missing a beat, who has a deep understanding of marketing and design with national awards for innovation, storytelling branding, and a proven history of nurturing a productive culture while staying a step ahead, that's me.
